FAT BOY'S DIET

Cold Showers Help You To Stay Slim

By ELMER WHEELER

Cold showers (ugh) knock off more weight than hot showers or baths.

Seems when you are cold the body yells for more heat.

Inside you are mechanical engineers that start your motor racing. We call it shivering. Or goose pimples, which are nature's way of bringing blood to the cold surface.

This action costs you calories that dissipate themselves trying to warm you up.

There are 4,000 calories to a pound.

IF YOU'RE mechanically minded, with a good head for numbers, figure out how many goose pimples it takes to shiver off a pound!

Since fat won't gather around a working muscle, the tummy and derriere of fat boys harbor the most fat.

For needed exercise on the "seat area," try wiggling in synchronization with your toothbrush as you slide it back and forth across the molars.

YOU MAY look ridiculous from the rear, but who can see you anyway. The exercise will reduce that portion of your anatomy.

For reducing the tummy try walking to the bathroom and back each morning on all fours!

You've never seen a four-legged animal with a bay window, or have you?

SOME DEEP stuff on grams: One spoonful usually contains 5 grams.

One gram of protein contains 4 calories.

One gram of carbohydrates contains 4 calories.

One gram of alcohol contains 7 calories.

And one gram of fat has 9 calories in it.

Children Present Enjoyable Concert

KEOMA — The Christmas concert for children in the Keoma district was held in the hall Dec. 20. The concert, which was conducted by Mrs. R. Poffenroth and Mrs. W. Midyette was quite successful considering the short time the children had to practice.

Each child present received a gift from Santa as well as a bag of nuts and candy. A lunch was served after which Santa was again on his merry way.

Mr. Neil McKay is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. McKay. Neil motored down from Edmonton on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Percival are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Horb and family in Edmonton for the holidays.

A farewell party was held in Keoma for Mr. and Mrs. L. Lester and their children on Dec. 6. A brooch from the Ladies' Club was presented to Mrs. Lester. A traveling shaving kit was presented to Mr. Lester by the Lions Club. The children received a gift from the ladies. They will be leaving sometime after Jan. 1 for California to make their new home.

Mrs. T. Hull an old time resident of Keoma, passed away recently in New Zealand.

Polio Patient Home For Christmas

CROSSFIELD — Mr. and Mrs. Art Copley are pleased indeed to have permission to enjoy their only child's presence at home for Christmas. Jo-Anne, Crossfield's little song bird, was stricken with polio months ago and was taken to University hospital, Edmonton, after a series of treatments in Calgary.

Joanne has been greatly missed by all of us and we hope that her visit at home will strengthen her progress, and may the New Year see her well and strong again.

The Leveland school concert took place Monday evening, Dec. 22. The teachers and the children are to be congratulated on their good program. The program took place in the SDA hall and had a full house. During the program a short speech was given by John Leiske in behalf of the teachers and children to take up a collection for an unfortunate family of this district. Mr. Reinhold Neher went in the Drumheller hospital in August and now has been moved to the Holy Cross hospital in Calgary. Mr. Neher's five children have been sick also at home for some time. The Horse On the Payroll

When Parliament re-convenes on January 12th, the Canadian people are likely to hear a lot more about the Petawawa horses that were found on the payroll of the military establishment here.

The Tory inquisition wants to know if these horses paid income tax and unemployment insurance and if they will receive unemployment benefits in case of a slump in business. Will the horses in question get old age pension benefits? We imagine the Government would be quite safe in answering to this later question: "Old age pensions start at age 70, so what a foolish question! No horses can live that long!"

That horses are found on a payroll will be no surprise to most Alberta farmers. Every harvest season farm workers with stook teams hire themselves out at so much for the man and so much for each horse.

That puts the horse right on the payroll. The teamster claims the horses' "wages" as separate to his own, because the team has to be fed and maintained and it wouldn't be good business to have to pay out legitimate expenses out of one's personal income.

We suspect that some simple explanation such as this, involving factors well-known to every farmer, is the basis for charges that the Army camp horses were on the civilian payroll—bizarre and extraordinary as that may seem to city-dwellers.

Grain Loading Coincidence

A real rarity occurred recently in connection with the loading of wheat out of the Alberta Wheat Pool elevators at Vilna. On November 26, two cars of wheat were loaded out of the two Pool elevators at that point and both billed for Vancouver. On December 11 the same two cars arrived back in Vilna at the same two elevators and once again were loaded with wheat and shipped to Vancouver. With about 52,000 boxcars moving grain in western Canada, and over 5,400 country elevators in the prairie provinces, the chances of the above mentioned coincidence occurring must have indeed been small.

Becoming An Alcoholic

Dr. Harold R. Masters, a psychiatrist from Richmond, Va., says that regular drinking each night, even if limited to one or two highballs before dinner, can build up a "conditioning," which leads to alcoholism. This conditioning, in a "normal social drinker," sometimes establishes a "conditioned reflex demand" for alcohol, which can lead the individual to the alcoholic stage.

Dr. Masters also said: "Any time an individual drinks enough to be absent or late to his work and low on the job, he is drinking too much and, if this is a regular, or frequently recurring, he may be classed as a chronic alcoholic." Dr. Masters estimates there are between three million and five million "excessive" drinkers in the United States.

Of this number, only 20% to 25% are alcoholics. Dr. Masters also points out that every individual who consumes a drink or two nightly, before dinner, does not become an alcoholic. Such a practice, however, leads a certain percentage of drinkers down the road to alcoholism and it is almost impossible to foretell whether this or that individual will fall victim to the disease.

Dr. Masters believes the answer lies in the recognition that alcoholism is an illness. He suggests that large industries set up treatment programs, based on the conception of alcoholism as an illness.

Those who would have their drinks every night, without fail, would do well to study the words of Dr. Masters. Since doctors cannot tell you whether or not you will build up a "conditioned reflex demand," which might lead to alcoholism, every social drinker should be appraised of the risks involved.

Are Insecticides Destroying Our Wildlife?

By T. W. PUE

With the increasing use of modern insecticides such as DDT, some Canadian bird lovers and sportsmen have expressed concern about the effect of these chemicals on wildlife. However, a recent statement by Avery S. Hoyt, chief of the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, should dispel much of their apprehension.

Chemical pest control is an important element in conservation, said Mr. Hoyt. Forest pests now are regarded as guilty as forest fires in causing wildlife destruction. As a matter of fact, many of the devastating forest fires are due to insects. There is no need to recount what forest fires mean to wildlife.

T. W. PUE

Large scale control operations usually are under the direction of trained personnel. Control of forest-destroying insects such as the spruce budworm and the tussock moth can readily be obtained by the application of DDT at the rate of one pound per acre.

Population studies of birds before and after spraying indicated that there was no abandonment of nests or any nestling mortality that could be attributed to DDT. Repopulation of insects used by birds and animals as food was rapid. Direct fish losses in streams were small in comparison to the total population present. The loss of brook trout in one stream studied was estimated to be only 1.3 per cent.

Tests by the U.S. Public Health Service and the Tennessee Valley Authority have shown that airplane application of DDT at the rate of 0.1 pound per acre has been effective in eliminating malaria-carrying mosquitoes, Mr. Hoyt reported. Those who have been concerned over the widespread use of DDT for mosquito control should be relieved to know that after 16 consecutive applications, there was no injurious effect to the resident fish population.

While Mr. Hoyt's statement referred to the United States, it can be applied to Canada as well since similar conditions exist here. As long as insecticides are used according to government-approved recommendations usually found on the container, there should be little fear that modern agricultural chemicals are a threat to Canadian wildlife. Dead forests and grass-hopper-devastated prairies are infinitely more dangerous.

Of This We Are Free

(From the Ottawa Journal)

Speaking in New York before 16,000 members of the American Legion, General Eisenhower drew his biggest applause with this

"Let us bend ourselves to end corruption in public office at every level of government. The United States is no better than its public officials. Preoccupation with their own profit . . . undermines America's strength."

In a nation, as in an individual, the temper of the Pharisee is a poor thing. Yet in thankful truth we here in Canada can say that no public man in this country needs to stand on a platform and say about our government, our officials, or any of our public men, what General Eisenhower felt need of saying to the people of his country.

We Canadians have our failures, in government and in other things. Yet, when the last word of censure is spoken, when the litany of errors is called, it still remains true, and the most cynical cannot deny, that corruption in our government is unknown. Within a generation we have fought two world wars, have expended billions, often with desperate haste. To the eternal credit of our public men no man in this country today dares to rise and say, or can say with truth, that a single cent of the billions spent was diverted to a private pocket from its proper channel.

For our democracy, whatever its shortcomings, that is a glory.

Never lose your temper because somebody else cannot think clearly.

The trouble with the world, as we have heard it said, is the people in it.

The Bible Today

Now we exhort you, brethren, warn them that are unruly, comfort the feeble-minded, support the weak, be patient toward all men.—1. Thessalonians, V; 14.

THE WHEAT AGREEMENT

A great deal of discussion is taking place about the advisability or not of renewing the International Wheat Agreement. The Farmers' Unions of Western Canada want the floor price increased from $1.20 to $1.85 and the maximum from $1.80 to $2.35. Australian farmers also want higher prices. American farmers are not interested for they enjoy the full open market price at all times, but the American government wants higher prices to avoid the subsidy which it has to pay on export grain, the difference between the $1.80 agreement price and the higher open market price it pays to farmers.

The authoritative "Financial Times" of London on November 21st analyzed the whole situation from the buyer's point of view. Their opinion is summarized as follows: "Although on the surface long-term commodity agreements can be made to look attractive they have not worked in practice. Such agreements, tested on a large scale, have resulted in a wrong distribution of production or an actual decline. To reconcile the fundamentally irreconcilable views of producer and consumer cannot be done in advance round a table. It is only in a free market that, over a long period, this miracle can be daily performed."

My advice to the Liberals—can't hope to retard development of television in Canada for ever although I must say you've managed to hold back progress up until now. Better wait until after the next election, though, before permitting private enterprise to bring us TV programs. If the CBC ever allows George Drew to appear on TV you're sunk and you know it.

A New Englander was enjoying the wonder of California as pointed out by a native.

"What beautiful grapefruit," exclaimed the easterner as they passed a citrus orchard.
"Grapefruit?" replied the native sneeringly. "Why they are just small lemons."

Gazing at some huge sunflowers the visitor asked, "And what are those enormous blossoms in that big field?"
"Just dandelions," the native replied disinterestedly.

How The Town Gets Its Name

CONDOR
Condor was named after HMS Condor, gunboat commanded by Capt. Lord Charles Beresford during the bombardment of Alexandria, July 11, 1882.

In 1905 the first settler was an American named Ed. French. He was soon followed by Mr. Kirk, Mr. Emberly, Paddy Swift, and Tommy Peal.

Bob Graham installed the first sawmill in the district. The first store was kept by Mr. Emberly and after the railway went through Mr. French built a store and post office near the siding. Two houses were built near the store. In 1923 the Pocock Grain Company built the first grain elevator in the district.

As a sidelight bears were a common sight around Condor and district in 1906.

Lass Wooed By Mail To Wed In Edmonton

LIVERPOOL — Mary Shepherd a pretty 26-year-old brunette, has left here on the Empress of France to marry the Canadian gold-miner who has been proposing to her by post for the last seven years.

The gold-miner, Steve Makohoniuk, now is in Yellowknife, N.W.T. He met Mary at a Manchester, England, roller-skating rink eight years ago, while serving with the Canadian Army.

Mary said before sailing that she had never been very far away from her Manchester home.

Steve is to meet her in Edmonton. They will be married the next day. Steve sent her the first class fare of £86.

"I am taking a lot of woollens, because they say it is sometimes 20 degrees below zero in Yellowknife."

Edmonton Planning Commission To Appoint Rural Technician

EDMONTON—At the December meeting of the Edmonton District Planning Commission, the Executive Committee submitted a report from which members much regretted to hear that the Commission is to lose the services of Mr. Plotkin, who has decided to leave in order to return to architectural work.

Mr. Plotkin entered the services of the Commission as Planning Technician at the time of its organization some 2½ years ago and such success as has been achieved since that time has been largely due to his far-sighted planning and energy. Many of the towns in the planning district will have reason to be thankful for his advice in years to come.

The Commission has appointed Mr. Leonard Gertler as Director of the Commission and he will now be responsible for the furtherance of the work upon which the Commission is engaged. The members feel that Mr. Gertler, who obtained his masters degree in Economics at the University of Toronto and pursued post-graduate studies in Town and Rural Planning at McGill University, will contribute much to the orderly and economic development of the Edmonton District.

The Commission also decided to engage, in the near future, a Planning Technician with a good agricultural background to assist in the planning of the rural areas contained in the district, which up to the present have not received as much attention by the Commission as could be desired. This, of course, has been largely due to the pressure of work encountered by the technical staff owing to rapid industrial development in the metropolitan areas and the demands of urban centres situated in the Planning District. Most of these latter are benefitting in some degree from the prosperity brought to the Edmonton district through expansion in industry.

The Secretary-Treasurer submitted a report on the Conference which was held on November 13 and 14 which showed that approximately 150 persons were in attendance. Of this number roughly one-half were representatives from the member municipalities, whilst the School Districts and School Divisions were also well represented. At the commencement of the proceedings, after the Commission Chairman had extended a welcome, the Hon. C. E. Gerhart, Minister of Municipal Affairs, gave an address in which he outlined the need for district planning. Addresses covering various phases of planning were given by Mr. Lash, Chairman of the Commission, Mr. Noel Dant, Edmonton City Planner, Mr. Holloway, Past Commission Chairman and members of the technical staff. Mr. Longman, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, who was the dinner speaker, gave a most interesting talk on the trend of local agriculture development. Attendance by the general public was somewhat disappointing and might have been due in part to lack of publicity. However, those who attended expressed themselves as being very interested in the information gleaned from the various addresses and it is hoped that future meetings of similar nature may be better patronized by the public at large. There is no doubt but that well considered planning, both town and rural, may influence the living conditions of residents in the district in years to come and it should be of interest to all to know what plans are being made for the future.

A report was submitted by the Director which showed that sufficient data will have been assembled by the end of December to justify a meeting to study possible revision of the Outline General Plan in as far as the Industrial areas are concerned. It was therefore decided to call a Special Meeting of the Commission for Monday, Dec. 29 with this end in view.

Socred Convention Bars R. E. Ansley

EDMONTON — Leduc's M.L.A., R. E. Ansley was barred from the annual Alberta Social Credit convention held in Edmonton recently.

G. F. Whittingback, in charge at the entrance to the convention said he could not allow Mr. Ansley in.

"Mr. Whittingback said I could not enter the convention hall as he had instructions not to allow anyone in who did not have a membership in the league," Mr. Ansley said.

Mr. Ansley had earlier been barred from the Social Credit caucus.

Re-elected in the Leduc constituency last Aug. 5th, Mr. Ansley defeated an official Social Credit candidate on first count. A former minister of education who resigned from the cabinet, Mr. Ansley had been nominated as Social Credit candidate for the riding, but then had his nomination repudiated by the league.

How to Torture Your Wife : : : : BY H. T. WEBSTER

HIGHBALLING—A new "high ball" service has been inaugurated by the Canadian National Railways to speed up the handling of less-than-carload shipments. Distinctive placards with a green ball on a yellow background, such as the yardman is affixing to the car in the photograph, are making their appearance across the country on CNR cars carrying LCL merchandise. Cars bearing these placards will receive priority handling at stations, freight sheds and distribution points across the system to provide faster service for this traffic between Western Canadian cities and over transcontinental routes.

Purposeful Feeding

At this time of year, most farmer-feeders will have the 952 calf crop in winter quarters and on feed for the better part of two months. The feeder will also have made up his mind by now whether his crop calves will be "fed out" or "carried over."

He may have decided to feed them for sale as finished light weight carcasses next spring. If this is his aim, says Chas. Gordon, Livestock Supervisor for the Alberta Department of Agriculture, the grain ration at this stage should be reaching generous proportions. Barley should be somewhere near half the grain ration and be gradually increased until it makes up about three-quarters of the grain fed.

It is well to remember that heifers to be kept for breeding are in no way benefited by prolonged heavy grain feeding. Such heifers should be selected and removed to a separate enclosure by Christmas. A growing ration will be much more beneficial to them and should be made up of all the good legume hay they will consume plus 2 or 3 pounds per head per day of rolled oats.

This is the ration he will be giving the steers also, if he is only growing them out to be put on grass next summer.

In "growing-out" young stock economical and health gains are sought. Putting too much flesh on calves that are going to grass in the spring is not good practice. It means placing a charge against the calf for a lot of high priced feed. Also in most cases fat calves when put on grass, will lose flesh before they start gaining. On the other hand, Mr. Gordon points out, it is not good economy to "rough through" young stock around straw stacks. Losses can be high if bad spring weather is encountered. And stunted "bags-of-bones" in the spring do not bring joy to the grower when the fall auctions roll around.

Edmonton Youths Get Jail Terms

EDMONTON (BUP) — Two 18-year-old Edmonton boys, Ray Murrell and Glen Woods recently were sentenced to jail terms after they were convicted of shop-breaking and theft.

Murrell was sentenced to 18 months while Woods received a 12-month term on the same charges.

They were arrested Sunday while in the act of attempting to cut open an office safe at the Scona Springs and Steering Shop with an acetylene torch.

Albertans Spoiled 20,000 Ballots

EDMONTON—More than 20,000 Albertans cast votes that didn't count in the Aug. 5th provincial election.

The final official tabulation of votes showed there were 20,613 spoiled ballots, or about 6½ per cent of the total of 318,948 votes polled.

Most of the spoiled ballots were invalid because the voter marked "X" instead of the figure "1" against his first choice on the ballot.

Of the 298,335 valid votes, the victorious Social Creditors received 167,789, the Liberals 66,738, CCF 41,920, and Progressive Conservatives 10,971. The remainder was split among independent groups.

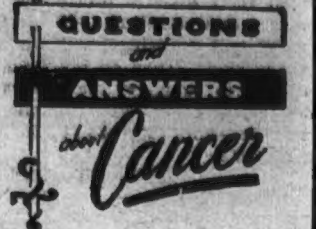

Accident Injures Two At Mewassin

KEEPHILLS—Two Genesee men were injured when the jeep in which they were riding crashed through a light bridge railing over White Whale creek at Mewassin.

The jeep had come slowly down the hill, but as they made the turn on to the bridge, it swerved, crashed through the light bridge railing and landed upside down in the creek.

The extent of the men's injuries were not determined. They were taken to hospital by Mr. Wagner who had heard their cries for help.

For The Common Good

A staunch friend of the farmer, is the entomologist. It is he who offers guidance for the control of destructive insects and suggestions for the preservation of useful ones. Apart from the practical value of his knowledge there is a fascination in the study of insect life that is shared by amateur and professional alike.

A common meeting ground has now been provided in the newly created Entomological Society of Alberta. At the organization meeting held in Lethbridge recently officers were elected and a constitution adopted. "To foster the advancement, exchange and dissemination of the knowledge of insects among the people of Alberta" is the aim of the society. Their objective covers not only knowledge of insects in relation to agriculture, forestry, public health and industry, but makes provision also for those interested in this knowledge solely from the point of view of personal satisfaction.

The calibre and enthusiasm of the committee suggest well for the future of the society. Professor E. H. Strickland is President, R. H. Painter, Vice-President, L. A. Jacobson, Secretary and Dr. G. A. Hobbs, Treasurer. Also on the committee are Dr. C. W. Farstad, Dr. R. W. Salt, Dr. H. Huttig, W. C. McGuffin and Tom Kilduff. Enquiries and applications should be addressed to the Secretary, L. A. Jacobson, Science Service Laboratories, Box 270, Lethbridge. Sincere interest in the study of insects is the main qualification for membership.

Eskimo Coach Declines Contract

EDMONTON—Ardent Eskimo football fans suffered a jolt last week when it was announced that Coach Frank Filchok will not be at the helm of the club next year.

Filchok led the Eskis to their first Grey Cup Challenge in 30 years, and to most fans it was felt that the signing of the contract was just a formality.

The financial terms of the contract were considered generous and were mutually acceptable. However in Filchok's opinion the "working conditions" laid down by the club were unreasonable.

As regards Filchok's future, he said there were three offers open to him, but he would not elaborate beyond that they were located in Canada and the United States.

First, we took them to see the chickens and the pigs. After we had come back from the pigpen, two-year-old Bonny said (referring to the pigs): "Let's not go to see the chickens in the stinky bedroom; let's just go to see the ones in the nice bedroom".

Wheat Agreement Conference At Saskatoon

SASKATOON—The Interprovincial Council of the three Western Farm Unions, held a conference here November 18 to discuss objectives and unify opinions on the renewal of the International Wheat Agreement. Organizations which had representatives at the recent IWA conference in London were invited to attend.

Attending were Messrs. Schulz and Allison of the Manitoba Farmer's Union, J. L. Phelps and W. Coates and Mrs. Norman of Saskatchewan and Mrs. W. C. Taylor, A. B. Wood and Henry Young of the Alberta Union, along with Messrs. J. E. Brownlee and R. Shannon representing the United Grain Growers Ltd. The Wheat Pools were not represented at this conference.

Mr. Brownlee and Mr. Coates who were delegates to the last Conference gave much helpful advice, and an interesting discussion was held regarding the possibilities of a new wheat agreement and the price and terms under which Canadian farm organizations would be willing to agree to same.

After much consideration, the conference decided unanimously that the objective of the farm representatives at the next session of the IWA Conference which will be held in Washington about January 30, should be as follows:

"Ceiling price, $2.35 per bushel, plus carrying charges. Floor price $1.85 per bushel, plus carrying charges. Provision to be made for annual price review. Maximum change in floor or ceiling price not to exceed 10 cents per bushel in any one year."

COMANCHE, Okla. — (BUP) — Thousands of persons—some from as far away as Alaska—are parading past the body of an executed murderer in a funeral home. The lawyer who defended 24-year-old William "Billy" Cook in his trials for six separate murders described the public turnout as "morbid curiosity." Six school buses brought 200 students from Byers, Texas, to view Cook's body.

British Author Resides In City

EDMONTON — (BUP) — An English writer who began her career trying to forget the constant menace of air attacks on London began writing in Edmonton today where nothing louder than traffic and construction drills could disturb her.

Mrs. Lucy Rogers started writing stories for teen-aged girls in 1943, during the height of the German air force blitz on London.

"It was the only way I found to completely forget the wail of sirens would come any minute, meaning another terrible attack on the city," Mrs. Rogers said.

Her husband was serving with the British Army intelligence corps in the Middle East at the time. He is now working here for the United Kingdom Trade Commission.

Mrs. Rogers said her stories were mostly of the adventures of school girls in foreign countries, based on knowledge she picked up during trips through Holland, Belgium, France, Switzerland and Italy.

She is presently working on her first book, about the life of a British family recently arrived in Canada. It is intended for teen-aged girls in Britain.

"Girls in Canada are so much more sophisticated at 15 and 16 than British girls of the same age," she said. "In Britain, teen-aged girls have to wear school uniforms, and make-up for them is unheard of."

LETTERS TO LOUISA

Dear Louisa,

I dated a boy three times last winter and he seemed to like me very much. After the last date I didn't give him a chance to ask me for another. After a few days I began to see my mistake and I decided I liked him better than any boy I had ever met.

After our last date he was always asking my girl friends who I was dating and if I ever asked about him. He was always friendly with me when I met him in the halls at school.

When spring came he went away to Oregon to work. He hasn't written me since he left. I only hear from him through other people. He wrote to one of his friends that he had only dated one girl since he had been up there. He is coming home sometime this winter and I would like to see him.

How would I go about seeing him so he wouldn't think I was running after him and do you think he thinks as much of me as I do of him?

DOTTY.

Answer:

I don't understand how you never gave him a chance to ask for dates if you met him in the halls at school unless, of course, you rushed on by and didn't stop to talk.

Why don't you send him a Christmas or New Year's card and write a few words such as "we are missing you" or something along that line. It is always permissible to send special day cards to any of your friends regardless of whether you correspond with them or not.

Or if he comes home soon, get up a small group of friends for a party and include him among them. Then, if he is really interested in you, it will give him the chance to show it.

LOUISA.

Dear Louisa,

I am married to an old man and everytime before my child is born, he stays away from home and treats me badly. I am at home with my parents now and they think I am foolish to go back with him. They say I should marry a young man and not one who gets drunk.

N. B.

Answer:

From your very long letter which I have printed in full, you seem to have a very low idea of what married life should be. Certainly, I should not stay with a man, old or young, who treated me as you say this one treats you. But if you leave him, that doesn't mean that you have to find some other man to support you. Why don't you get a job and try to make a decent life for the little children you have brought into the world? Give a little thought to them rather than the state of your emotions.

LOUISA.

Streak Mosaic Of Winter Wheat

Alberta members of the Canadian Phytopathological Society meeting recently in the Science Service Laboratories, Lethbridge, received a jolt when a destructive virus disease of wheat, new to this area, was reported by Dr. J. T. Slykhuis. Before coming to the staff of the Plant Pathology Laboratory here last June, Dr. Slykhuis had specialized in the virus diseases of cereals and grasses at Brookings, South Dakota. He found the virus disease, streak mosaic, in the growing winter wheat crop. The current long open fall has allowed this disease to become widespread, especially in early seedlings.

Early symptoms of streak mosaic on both winter and spring wheat consists of faint chlorotic streaks or dashes running parallel with the leaf veins. These lighter green markings may be more distinctly seen when held up to the light. As the disease progresses a general yellowish mottling may appear and eventual death of the affected part follows. Diseased plants are stunted in varying degrees and complete or partial sterility of the head or poor filling of the kernels results.

How streak mosaic is spread is not known. Its pattern of spread, however, is similar to that of some virus diseases of other plants which have been shown to be carried by insects.

Until more is known about this disease it is recommended that volunteer wheat plants, spring as well as winter types, be eliminated from areas to be sown. This removes possible sources from which the disease may be spread. Thus, new seedlings should not be made alongside an infested growing crop.

To further avoid chances of infection, winter wheat should be sown as late as it is practical to do so; and spring wheat as early as possible. These practices have proven effective since they allow the crop to get started at a time when insect populations that may act as virus carriers, are low.

It is believed that streak mosaic may not be new to the southern Alberta winter wheat zone. Winter wheat has had an up-and-down history here, and farmers have gone out of it on a wholesale scale on former occasions. Going out of winter wheat has been blamed on the build-up of root-rot where this crop is grown too many years in a row. To the overage person the end result from streak mosaic on the maturing wheat plant is similar to that caused by the root-rots. That streak mosaic may have been overlooked is therefore not surprising.

Seeding Forages On Grey Wooded Soils

OTTAWA—Experience on the grey wooded soil sub-station at McLennan, Alta., has shown that good catches of forage seed can be obtained on these soils by working the land early in the spring and then delaying seeding until after a good rain, says A. N. Longair of the Beaverlodge Experimental Station. Seeding at this time not only ensures moisture conditions suitable for the rapid germination of the seed but the rain helps firm the seed-bed and permits shallow seeding, an essential in sowing small forage crops.

Often seedlings may be made after a rain without further cultivation but should a hard crust form on the surface of the soil, the land should be harrowed prior to seeding. Under no circumstances should this operation be deep enough to loosen the seed-bed.

Tests have shown that best results are obtained when small forage seeds are not seeded deeper than one-half inch and the soil packed immediately after seeding. Under field conditions, good depth control can be obtained by making sure that the seed-bed is firm. The pressure springs on the drill discs should be released when seeding. Harrowing or packing after the drill is advisable. If a packer is used, care must be taken to avoid excessive pulverization of the soil which would increase the danger of baking.

Mrs. Wise Makes Fondant

When Mrs. Wise was a little girl, candies were a real treat at Christmas time. It seems now that the "visions of sugar plums" have passed away for many children. Unfortunately candy eating has become a daily habit instead of the occasional treat. Mrs. Wise is aware of the dangers of too much candy eating, and her children have not developed the candy habit. One of the benefits they have reaped from this is a real enjoyment of the Christmas sweets.

No candies are as nice as home-made candies, says Miss B. J. Lewis, Nutrition Specialist with the Women's Extension Service, Alberta Department of Agriculture. Her friend Mrs. Wise always makes her own. She and her children have a lot of fun together preparing these Christmas dainties for gift packages as well as for themselves. With a smooth, creamy fondant as a basis—and lots of imagination to work on it—what a variety they have!—stuffed dates, figs, prunes, cherries and raisins, fruit or nut centered bon bons of various hue; nuts of all kinds with a candy coating.

Mrs. Wise has learned the secret of handling fondant. Most cook books give the recipe, but many do not stress the important points of handling to get just the right results. She cooks the syrup in a straight sided saucepan without stirring (once it comes to the boil). As soon as it will form a soft ball when a little is dropped into a cup of cold water, she turns it quickly onto a cold wet platter. A little cold water sprinkled over it helps it cool quickly. The platter isn't moved, while the fondant cools, as this may change the condition of the candy. When the cooling syrup is lukewarm (Mrs. Wise tests it by holding her hand underneath the platter) it is time to begin to work the mixture. Using a spatula she works forward and backward toward the centre. Soon the mixture changes to a creamy white mass which she can take up in her hands. After about five minutes kneading it becomes soft, smooth and velvety in texture. Then it is placed in a covered jar or crock to ripen. Fondant should be allowed to ripen at least a day or two before using. It will keep in good condition for several weeks.

Albertan May Be Able To Use Legs Again

MONTREAL—Doctors at a veterans hospital here where Rudolf Rufer of Gainford, Alta., is taking paraplegic treatment hope he may be able to use his legs in a few months.

Authorities said his condition is as good as can be expected.

Rufer was paralyzed after being shot by a hold-up man at his garage. Alberta residents raised $9,000 to send him here for treatment.

For the first time since 1946 business for co-operatives was down in Canada during 1951. Figures show that $1,016,550,971 in total business was done by 2,768 associations. This was a drop of $22,250,000 from 1950.

Service-English Wedding Solemnized

CROSSFIELD—Yellow and bronze chrysanthemums banked the altar of Crossfield United Church to make a pleasing setting for the wedding of Miss Shirley Leone, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. English, Crossfield, to Melvin G. Service of Airdrie. Rev. W. E. G. Dovey officiated at the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of brocade white taffeta and net, with tucked bodice and fly-point sleeves. Her finger-tip veil was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls, and she carried a colonial bouquet of red roses with satin streamers.

Mrs. W. G. Service was matron of honor, gowning in a blue brocade taffeta and net formal with shoulder cape. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Attending the bridegroom was his brother, Mr. W. G. Service and the guests were ushered to their places by Mr. Walter Barabash of Gleichen, recently home from Korea, and Mr. Robert Service of Red Deer.

At the reception, held in the Memorial hall, where the FUWA catered for the occasion, Mr. W. Murdoch proposed the toast.

For travelling the bride changed to a dress of plum crepe, with black accessories, and white top coat with rose and carnation corsage.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Service will reside in Airdrie.

Out of town guests included Mrs. W. J. Service Sr., Red Deer; Mr. and Mrs. R. Service, Red Deer; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Brook, Ponoka; Mr. and Mrs. O. Whittaker, Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. A.
